

Module design and construction is described in [2] and [4]. Modules are typically formed by layering strips of aluminium foil between a polypropylene dielectric. These layers are rolled to form a single capacitive element, leaving an area of foil exposed at either end, and are then stacked and compressed to fit within a module housing. Ad ...

An AX8810 capacitor module extends the DC link capacitance and is suitable for the support of the DC link. It enables energy savings: voltage peaks generated by braking motors are taken up and stored. This makes the activation of the ...

An almost unlimited design variety of integrated busbars and plastic housings enables direct screw connection to the IGBTs, which, in addition to very low ESR and ESL values, also makes classic snubber capacitors no longer necessary. Simply tell us what you require.

An AX8810 capacitor module extends the DC link capacitance and is suitable for the support of the DC link. It enables energy savings: voltage peaks generated by braking motors are taken up and stored. This makes the activation of the brake resistor mostly unnecessary and helps to reduce power losses. Overall, the use of the capacitor module ...
