

What are MicroLink solar sheets for UAVs?

MicroLink solar sheets for UAVs contain solar cells based on our state-of-the-art epitaxial lift-off (ELO) technology. Triple-junction, dual-junction, or single-junction variants are available. Sheets with triple-junction cells have demonstrated efficiency $>30\%$ under AM1.5 illumination.

When will Chinese solar panel prices be based on PERC?

Prices for Chinese project will be prices for TOPCon modules instead of PERC from April 2024 onwards. InfoLink Consulting provides weekly updates on PV spot prices, covering module price, cell price, wafer price, and polysilicon price. Learn about photovoltaic panel price trends and solar panel costs with our comprehensive market analysis.

How much power does a MicroLink solar cell produce?

The areal mass density of the sheets is <350 g/m², resulting in power per unit area >250 W/m² under AM 1.5 illumination and specific power >700 W/kg. MicroLink's triple-junction inverted metamorphic (IMM) solar cells for space applications are manufactured using our state-of-the-art epitaxial lift-off (ELO) technology.

What types of solar panels are available?

Triple-junction, dual-junction, or single-junction variants are available. Sheets with triple-junction cells have demonstrated efficiency $>30\%$ under AM1.5 illumination. Because of the very low thickness of the ELO solar cells, the sheets are flexible and conform to curved surfaces, such as the upper surface of a wing.
