

What is a phasecap capacitor?

A hi-tech capacitor with stud mounting Cylindrical construction with inert gas impregnated winding having very good inrush current capability and over current capability (up to 1.8 IR). A modified version of PhaseCap capacitor with connection cable, suitable for long-term outdoor applications and for mounting on the pole.

What are low voltage app power capacitors?

Low voltage APP power capacitors are non self-healing type capacitors designed and manufactured by using latest technology and high quality material. These capacitors employ a technique where in the dielectric comprises of both sides rough, hazy polypropylene film impregnated with a non PCB liquid. The fluid is biodegradable in environment.

What type of resistor is required for discharging capacitors?

For discharging the capacitors, special high-voltage resistors type EW-22 are required. Standard resistors cannot be used! In dynamic PFC systems discharge reactors cannot be used (this would be a short circuit of the high voltage DC)! In PFC systems without filter circuit reactors current limiting reactors are required (e.g. BD-100) for the TSM.

What is a capacitor contactor?

Contactors are electromechanical switching elements used to switch Capacitors or Reactor and Capacitor in standard or de-tuned PFC system. Capacitor contactors with damping resistors make use of pre-switching auxiliary contacts. They close before the main contacts and pre-load the capacitor thus avoiding current peak values.

What are the sizes of Hitachi ABB capacitors?

What is the useful life of a capacitor?

The useful life of a capacitor depends very much on temperature. Proper cooling of a capacitor must ensure that the maximum temperature is not exceeded, otherwise useful life is de-graded. When configuring a circuit, one should make sure that capacitors are not subjected to heat from adjacent components (reactors, bus bars, etc.).
