

Why is my solar light not working?

One of the most common reasons why your solar light isn't working is the wire between the solar panel and the battery. This wire is responsible for transferring the generated electricity from the solar panel to the solar battery -- charging it in the process. If this wire is broken, then your batteries won't charge no matter what you do.

Can a solar light turn on if it is dark?

Your solar light would have no electricity to draw on when it becomes dark, and it simply won't turn on. Most of the time, all you'll need is a screwdriver to open up the battery slot on your solar light, and slot in some fresh re-chargeable batteries (make sure that they're of the same size and capacity) to get your light working again.

Do solar lights work if there is no sunlight?

Solar lights operate using sunlight. They won't work if they don't get sunlight exposure. Check whether your solar lights are getting enough sunlight to charge or not. There is a possibility that trees and walls might block sunlight to the extent that they cease to charge. 4. Clean the Panel If it's Dirty

Most of the outdoor solar garden lights come with ON/OFF button, and that button needs to be turned ON. In many cases this simple thing is ignored by many people and this is one of the main reasons why your solar light isn't working as expected. There might also be a factory defect and the light doesn't turn ON. 2.

Why are my solar lights not charging?

Your solar lights might not be charged. Many solar lights come pre-charged but some might need to be fully charged before using them for the first time. Check the user manual to learn more about your solar light. Also, check whether they are receiving enough sunlight to charge. Your solar lights might be switched off.

Why is my solar panel not working at night?

This can also happen if there are nearby light sources which make the environment overly-bright at night. By shading your solar panel, you force your solar light to recognize that lighting levels are low and that it needs to give off light, allowing your light to start working again. 2. Check Your Batteries
